

1 despite knowledge that Plaintiff is a Security-Threat-Group (STG) target, resulted in repeated
2 attacks against him by other inmates. He alleged that he sought PS placement three times, 3 the last following an assault in January 2008. He also claimed that his repeated assignment 4 to PS reviews alerts inmates in general population (GP) of his status as an STG target and 5 increases the risk of further assaults when he is eventually returned to GP, even in an 6 alternate placement. He further alleged that Defendants continued this practice, increasing 7 the number of GP inmates who know of Plaintiff's PS reviews and increasing the likelihood 8 of further assaults if he is returned to GP. The Court directed Defendants to Answer Count
9 I and dismissed the remaining claims and Defendants. (Doc. #4.)

10 Thereafter, the Court dismissed claims for denial of the November 2005 and January 11 2007 requests for placement in PS. (Doc. #21.)

12 Rollins and Sternes now move to dismiss on the grounds that they have not been 13 served as required by Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 4(m). (Doc. #36.) Schriro, Franco, 14 Watson, Miller, Haley, Crouch, and O'Bryant move for summary judgment on the grounds 15 that (1) they did not violate Plaintiff's Eighth Amendment rights, (2) Plaintiff is not entitled 16 to punitive damages, and (3) Defendants are entitled to qualified immunity on the damages
17 claims. (Doc. #37.)

18 II. Motion to Dismiss

19 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 4(m) provides that if "a defendant is not served within 20 120 days after the complaint is filed, the court—on motion or on its own after notice to the 21 plaintiff—must dismiss the action without prejudice against the defendants or order that 22 service be made within a specific time." Rollins and Sternes have not been served. (Doc.
23 ##6, 7.)

24 Plaintiff filed a single response to both pending motions, stating that the response to 25 the Motion to Dismiss would be the same information as the response to the Motion for 26 Summary Judgment. (Doc. #41 at 1-2.) But, as Defendants note in their reply, Plaintiff 27 makes no argument regarding the failure to serve Rollins or Sternes. (Doc. #49.)

28 The Complaint was filed on April 21, 2008, and the screening Order was issued on June 11, 2008. Because Rollins and Sternes have not been served as required by Rule 4(m) and Plaintiff offers no explanation for that failure, Rollins and Sternes will be dismissed without prejudice.

III. Motion for Summary Judgment

A. Legal Standards

1. Summary Judgment

A court must grant summary judgment if the pleadings and supporting documents, viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, “show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(c); see also Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 322-23 (1986). Under summary judgment practice, the moving party bears the initial responsibility of presenting the basis for its motion and identifying those portions of the record, together with affidavits, which it believes demonstrate the absence of a genuine issue of material fact. Celotex, 477 U.S. at 323.

If the moving party meets its initial responsibility, the burden then shifts to the opposing party who must demonstrate the existence of a factual dispute and that the fact in contention is material, i.e., a fact that might affect the outcome of the suit under the governing law, Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 248 (1986), and that the dispute is genuine, i.e., the evidence is such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict for the non-moving party. Id. at 250; see Triton Energy Corp. v. Square D. Co., 68 F.3d 1216, 1221 (9th Cir. 1995). Rule 56(e) compels the non-moving party to “set out specific facts showing a genuine issue for trial” and not to “rely merely on allegations or denials in its own pleading.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(e); Matsushita Elec. Indus. Co., Ltd. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 586-87 (1986). The opposing party need not establish a material issue of fact conclusively in its favor; it is sufficient that “the claimed factual dispute be shown to require a jury or judge to resolve the parties’ differing versions of the truth at trial.” First Nat’l Bank of Arizona v. Cities Serv. Co., 391 U.S. 253, 288-89 (1968). However, Rule 56(c) mandates the entry of summary judgment against a party who, after adequate time for discovery, fails

1 to make a showing sufficient to establish the existence of an element essential to that party's 2 case and on which the party will bear the burden of proof at trial. Celotex, 477 U.S. at 322-3 23.

4 When considering a summary judgment motion, the court examines the pleadings, 5 depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, 6 if any. Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(c). At summary judgment, the judge's function is not to weigh the 7 evidence and determine the truth but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial.
8 Anderson, 477 U.S. at 249. The evidence of the non-movant is "to be believed, and all 9 justifiable inferences are to be drawn in his favor." Id. at 255. But, if the evidence of the 10 non-moving party is merely colorable or is not significantly probative, summary judgment 11 may be granted. Id. at 248-49.

12 2. Threat to Safety

13 "[P]rison officials have a duty . . . to protect prisoners from violence at the hands of 14 other prisoners." Hearns v. Terhune, 413 F.3d 1036, 1040 (9th Cir. 2005) (internal 15 quotations omitted). To prevail on an Eighth Amendment failure-to-protect claim, a plaintiff 16 must demonstrate facts that satisfy a two-part test showing that the defendant was 17 deliberately indifferent. First, the plaintiff must prove that objectively he suffered a 18 sufficiently serious deprivation. Wilson v. Seiter, 501 U.S. 294, 298 (1991). Then, he must 19 prove that the defendant had a culpable state of mind—was deliberately indifferent—in 20 allowing the deprivation to occur. Id. at 299.

21 A prison official has a sufficiently culpable mind if he "knows of and disregards an 22 excessive risk to inmate health or safety; the official must both be aware of facts from which 23 the inference could be drawn that a substantial risk of serious harm exists, and [the official] 24 must also draw the inference." Farmer v. Brennan, 511 U.S. 825, 837 (1994); Gibson v.
25 County of Washoe, 290 F.3d 1175, 1187-88 (9th Cir. 2002). Where an inmate's claim is 26 based on the alleged failure to prevent harm, the inmate may satisfy the "sufficiently serious" 27 requirement by showing the existence of "conditions posing a substantial risk of serious 28 harm" to him. Farmer, 511 U.S. at 834. To prove knowledge of the risk, the prisoner may 1 rely on circumstantial evidence; in fact, the very obviousness of the risk may be sufficient 2 to establish knowledge. See id. at 842; Wallis v. Baldwin, 70 F.3d 1074, 1077 (9th Cir.

3 1995).

4 B. Parties' Contentions

5 1. Defendants

6 In support of their motion, Defendants submit their Statement of Facts (Doc. #38 7 (DSOF)); Plaintiff's ADC Adult Inmate Management System (AIMS) Report (Doc. #51, Ex.
8 A); the declaration of Haley (id., Ex. B), with attachments (Doc. #50), including Director's 9 Instruction (DI) #67—Protective Segregation (id., Attach. 1) and Plaintiff's PS documents 10 (id., Attachs. 2-16); and excerpts from Plaintiff's deposition (id., Ex. C, Pl. Dep. Oct. 28, 11 2009).

12 At the time relevant to Plaintiff's Complaint, the ADC's PS process was set out in DI 13 67. (Doc. #51, Ex. B, Haley Decl. ¶ 12, Doc. #50 Attach. 1.) Placement in PS is carefully 14 scrutinized—officials must screen inmates to assure they are not attempting to infiltrate 15 protective custody to harm someone already there. (Id. ¶ 14.)

16 An inmate in need of protection can be placed in PS, transferred to another prison unit, 17 or transferred to a unit designed for vulnerable inmates. (Id. ¶¶ 15, 16, 17.) The greatest 18 degree of protection is afforded by PS status, i.e. placement in a unit that houses other 19 inmates identified as having safety concerns. (Id. ¶ 15.) Alternatively, an inmate can be 20 transferred to a different prison unit if an inmate has a conflict with particular inmates, but 21 is otherwise able to live among other prisoners. (Id. ¶ 16.) Once an inmate is determined to 22 pose a threat to the safety of another inmate, he is included on the inmate's "Do Not House 23 With" ("DNHW") list and they are not housed where they would have contact with each 24 other. This information is included in the inmate's computerized AIMS file. (Id.) Another 25 possible protective arrangement is to transfer an inmate to a unit designed specifically for 26 vulnerable inmates. (Id. ¶ 17.)

27 When an inmate requests protection, he is immediately isolated in a safe, secure area 28 and then moved to a detention unit. The Shift Commander initiates the PS screening process

1 by completing the necessary paper work, including a statement from the inmate and 2 investigation report, and forwarding all documents to the Deputy Warden (DW). (Id. ¶¶ 19-3 21.) The inmate's previous requests for PS are obtained from the Central Office. (Id. ¶ 22.)
4 The DW reviews the documentation and determines whether the inmate's case requires a full 5 PS review, which is an in-depth process involving an investigation by the Criminal 6 Investigation Unit (CIU). (Id. ¶¶ 23-24, 26.) If further investigation is not required, the DW
7 assures that the inmate's DNHW list is up to date and documented, and the inmate is notified
8 of the decision. The inmate can appeal within 3 days to the Warden. (Id. ¶ 25.)

9 If a comprehensive PS review is needed, the DW forwards the PS file/documents to the 10 CO IV, who interviews the inmate and sends documents to CIU. (Id. ¶ 26.) The CIU 11 interviews the inmate and prepares a report, which goes to the DW. The DW determines if 12 there is a threat, makes a recommendation, and forwards everything to the Warden, who does 13 an independent review and recommendation. (Id. ¶ 30.) The Warden forwards the packet
14 to the PS Administrator at the ADC Central Office. The PS Administrator and PS Committee 15 review the packet for final determination. (Id. ¶ 31.) The inmate can appeal the decision of 16 the PS Committee to the Division Director for Prison Operations. (Id. ¶ 35.)

17 Defendants contend that Plaintiff had three DI 67 reviews: November 18, 2005;
18 January 19, 2007; and January 10, 2008.²

19 a. 2005 PS Request

20 On November 18, 2005, at the ASPC-Winslow, Kaibab Unit, two inmates assaulted 21 Plaintiff, so staff recommended Plaintiff go through the PS process. (Id. ¶ 37.) During the 22 investigation, officials learned that Plaintiff, a White Supremacist, had a $2,500 drug debt 23 with the New Mexican Mafia. (Id. ¶ 38.) He was ordered by the "White Power" inmates to 24 stop using drugs until he paid his debt, but he continued to use drugs and ran up more debt.
25 (Id.) Plaintiff was offered PS status but he refused it, stating that he knew he would be 26

27 ²Although the specific claims regarding denial of PS in 2005 and 2007 have been 28 dismissed, the Court will summarize all three PS requests because Plaintiff claims that his repeated assignment to alternative housing instead of PS has increased the threat to him.

1 reclassified higher, be sent to lockdown, and when that happens, his mother would be able 2 to pay off his drug debt and that he expected the whole thing to blow over. (Id. ¶ 39.)

3 The DW, Warden, and PS Committee, chaired by Haley, all determined that 4 alternative placement away from Kaibab with names added to his DNHW list was 5 appropriate. (Id. ¶¶ 40-42.) It was noted that the issue appeared to be isolated to Kaibab, and 6 Plaintiff stated he was not asking for PS, but was requesting to go to another GP location.
7 (Id.) Plaintiff waived his right to appeal the decision. (Id.)

8 b. 2007 PS Request

9 On January 19, 2007, Plaintiff requested PS status while housed at the ASPC-Tucson, 10 Rincon Unit, due to a perceived threat to his safety resulting from his 1991 situation where 11 Plaintiff kept $600 sent to him while he was out of prison by an Aryan Brotherhood (AB)
12 inmate for the purchase of LSD, which Plaintiff was supposed to smuggle in to ASPC-13 Florence, Central Unit. (Id. ¶ 44.) Plaintiff named seven inmates that he believed were a 14 threat to him. (Id.)

15 A PS review was conducted. (Id.) DW and Warden recommended alternative 16 placement away from Rincon. (Id. ¶¶ 45, 46.) It was noted that Plaintiff had not been 17 assaulted or told to leave Rincon by other inmates; he was concerned because an inmate 18 asked to see him. (Id.) Plaintiff identified the inmates he felt threatened by and the 19 recommendation was to add the inmates to his DNHW list and to transfer him to another GP 20 location. (Id.) The warden also noted that the investigation did not disclose a contract to 21 assault Plaintiff or a larger conspiracy to harm him. (Id. ¶ 46.)

22 The PS Committee assigned Plaintiff to alternative placement away from Rincon and 23 added names to his DNHW list. It noted that information regarding the alleged threat was 24 self-reported and unconfirmed by prison staff. (Id. ¶ 47.) The PS Committee also noted that 25 Plaintiff has a release date of 2035 and, therefore, it was in his best interest to try to adapt to 26 another GP yard. Plaintiff did not appeal the placement decision. (Id.)

27 c. 2008 PS Request

28 On January 10, 2008, Plaintiff requested PS after being assaulted by another inmate

1 when he was moved to the ASPC-Yuma, Cheyenne Unit (“Cheyenne”). (Id. ¶ 47.) The PS
2 review process was initiated. (Id.) Plaintiff was interviewed by CO IV Sanders on 3 January 28 and told Sanders that an inmate sent Plaintiff $3,000 when he was “on the streets”
4 and he was supposed to buy heroin and acid and send it back in. He never did, and now 5 “they” want to kill him. (Id. ¶ 48.) Plaintiff claimed that one of the people who knew about 6 the deal was at Cheyenne and that Plaintiff would have been assaulted eventually by him.
7 (Id.) Plaintiff told Sanders that he does not “do drugs,” he only owes the $3,000. (Id. ¶ 49.)

8 On February 21, Watson, the associate DW at Cheyenne, recommended alternative 9 placement. Plaintiff had viable alternative placement opportunities and inmates deemed a 10 threat to him as a result of the investigation had been added to his DNHW list. (Id. ¶ 50.)
11 On March 7, Sternes, the warden at the ASPC-Yuma, also recommended alternative 12 placement with inmates’ names added to Plaintiff’s DNHW list. (Id. ¶ 51.) Sternes noted 13 inconsistencies in Plaintiff’s stories over the years about the alleged debt owed and the 14 amount owed, indicating that the inconsistencies called into question the validity of the 15 claims. (Id. ¶ 52.) Sternes also noted that Plaintiff’s institutional file indicated that he had 16 been involved in drug activity during this commitment and his drug dealings resulted in two 17 other inmates requesting protection. (Id.) Plaintiff was found to be in possession of a cell 18 phone while housed at the ASPC-Lewis. (Id.) Sternes noted that Plaintiff “has been 19 documented to be an aggressor, drug dealer and smuggler of contraband into the prison 20 system. He has a continued issue with either selling or owing money from drugs. I believe 21 this is more likely the reason for his issue this time, than a 17 year old debt that may not be 22 real.” (Id. ¶ 53.)

23 On March 31, 2008, the PS Committee, chaired by Haley, denied Plaintiff PS status 24 and approved him for alternative placement, noting that other options should be considered.
25 (Id. ¶ 54.) The PS found that inconsistencies in Plaintiff’s allegations throughout the current 26 and previous investigations undermined the validity of his claims as they related to the 27 underlying reason he had been threatened and assaulted. (Id. ¶ 55.) It was also noted that 28 Plaintiff’s alleged assailant had no documented STG or gang affiliation. (Id.)

1 Plaintiff appealed the PS Committee's alternative-placement decision and on 2 April 30, Rollins, the Deputy Division Director for Prison Operations, responded. (Id. ¶ 57.)
3 Rollins noted that Plaintiff claimed his issues started in 1991 due to owing a debt to the 4 Aryan Brotherhood, but when he first requested PS in 2006, he claimed to owe a debt to 5 Hispanic inmates; that the allegations had been inconsistent and unverified; and that there
6 was no indication that Plaintiff's issues are STG- or gang-related or that a statewide threat
7 existed. (Id. ¶¶ 58-59.) He pointed out that Plaintiff had been housed at the ASPC-Yuma, 8 Dakota Unit, for six months with no issues, which indicated that he could be safely housed 9 among GP inmates. (Id.) All inmates described by Plaintiff to be a threat had been placed 10 on his DNHW list and he could be safely housed at another location. (Id.) Finally, Rollins 11 said there had been no new information provided to compel him to change the decision of 12 the PS Committee. (Id.)

13 Defendants argue that Plaintiff is not entitled to relief as to Schriro because he alleges 14 no personal involvement by her and admitted that he sued her only because she was Rollins 15 and Haley's supervisor. (Doc. #37 at 10-11, ref. DSOF ¶ 61, PI Dep. 15:2-5.) As to Franco, 16 Watson, Miller, Crouch, and O'Bryant, Defendants argue that the PS Committee has the final 17 say on Plaintiff's 2008 PS request and the other Defendants were merely steps on the way
18 to the PS Committee's decision. (Doc. #37 at 12.) Watson recommended alternative 19 placement and O'Bryant's only involvement was to notify Plaintiff of his appeal rights. (Id.
20 at 13.)

21 Regarding Haley, Defendants assert that although Plaintiff blames the PS Committee 22 for denying his 2008 request, Plaintiff does not allege that he has been assaulted since that 23 denial. Instead, Plaintiff claims that he was assaulted in the past and "perpetually assigned 24 to locations where it will and does continue psychological and emotional mental trauma, 25 decline health, substantial financial loss, property loss, loss of privileges and immunities."
26 (Id. at 13.) Defendants argue that a failure to protect against future harm is not a cognizable 27 damages claim under § 1983. (Id.) They also argue that Haley responded reasonably to 28 potential the threat to Plaintiff. (Id. at 14.)

2. Plaintiff

In opposition to Defendants' motion, Plaintiff submits his response (Doc. #41), his Statement of Facts (Doc. #42 (PSOF)), Exhibits (Doc. #43), his declaration and the declaration of Shirley Rau (Doc. ##45, 46).

Plaintiff asserts that alternative placement is not a viable alternative to PS when a group of inmates assaults Plaintiff repeatedly. (Doc. #42, PSOF ¶ 1.) He asserts that his case spans five years, three different prison yards, and nine inmates added to his DNHW list, "8 white men, 3, I know of are part of the 'A.B.'" (Id.) He alleges that in all of his PS cases, a complete review was done "which in itself proves [his] case was believed and warranted." (Id. ¶ 2.) He disputes that being moved to a Detention Unit after requesting PS is the same as being isolated because inmates are then confined with 100 to 150 other inmates and all other inmates in the CDU can see the inmate and know why he is there. Plaintiff asserts that GP and PS inmates are housed there. (Id. ¶ 3.)

Plaintiff contends that when he was sent to Cheyenne in Yuma, he was attacked immediately and no amount of DNHW designations will correct the problem. (Id.)

Plaintiff also denies that he is a White Supremacist or that he belongs to a gang or that he owed the Mexican Mafia $2,500. (Id. ¶ 4.) He told prison officials that he owed $1,000 to a Mexican. He was told to buy dope. He claims that he did not request PS in 2005 because he needed time to find out how serious the issue had become. (Id.) In December 2008, Plaintiff touched a guard so that Plaintiff would be charged with an A-1 violation and put in a single cell. (Id.)

As to the 2007 PS request, Plaintiff notes that although officials stated that the investigation did not uncover a contract or large conspiracy to harm him, he was moved and seven people were added to his DNHW list. (Id. ¶ 5.) Regarding the 2008 PS request, Plaintiff claims that he is being run from one yard to another by assaults, threats, and extortion "in hopes they'll forget about me. I have a news flash for you. They have not forgotten. It's been 19 years since this transpired." (Id. ¶ 6.)

Plaintiff asserts that the only thing Defendants rely on is the inconsistencies in the 1 amounts of money. He claims that he told officials the money came in different checks with 2 possibly $600 the first time and up to $2,000 or $3,000 over the next six months. (Id. ¶ 7.)

3 His mother Shirley Rau attests that someone came to the house in search of Plaintiff
4 regarding the debt. (Id. ¶ 8.)

5 Plaintiff alleges that all the inmates on his DNHW list are gang affiliated. (Id. ¶ 9, 6 Doc. #43, Attach. 1.) He notes that Rollins claimed that there was no indication that 7 Plaintiff's issues are STG- or gang-related, but that Sergeant DeFranco noted that inmates
8 who threatened Plaintiff were "all affiliated with A.B. gang." (Id. ¶ 13, Attach. 5.)

9 Plaintiff claims that under Haley, fewer inmates were admitted to PS than ever before 10 and that more people had been let out into the yards and assaulted. (Id.) He also claims that 11 Sgt. Lopez knows that Plaintiff only assaulted a guard in order to be put in a safe place. (Id.)

12 Plaintiff concludes that he has been assaulted several times, his safety issue is 13 ongoing, and he is and will be an STG target for his actions. (Id. at ¶ 18.) In Central Unit, 14 he has been threatened by several inmates, whom he identifies. (Doc. #45, Pl. Decl. ¶ 12.)
15 He says that these inmates have sent kites to him and have said they are going to get him.
16 (Id.)

17 3. Reply

18 As to Schriro, Franco, Watson, Miller, Crouch, and O'Bryant, Defendants argue that 19 nothing in the Complaint or summary judgment response connects any of these Defendants 20 with affirmative conduct depriving Plaintiff of his constitutional rights. (Doc. #48 at 3.) As 21 to Haley, Plaintiff's complaint is that Haley was chair of the PS committee that denied Plaintiff's 22 2008 PS request and placed Plaintiff on a different yard. Defendants contend that Plaintiff disagrees 23 with that decision and asserts that alternative placement does not work. Defendants argue that there 24 is no dispute that Haley evaluated Plaintiff's case, and they further assert that Haley acted 25 reasonably regarding the risk. (Id. at 4.)

26 C. Analysis

27 The Court finds that Defendants are entitled to summary judgment. They offer 28 evidence that they were not deliberately indifferent to Plaintiff's safety concerns, and

1 Plaintiff fails to establish a material dispute of fact as to their alleged deliberate indifference 2 with regard to the 2008 PS denial. As previously noted, Plaintiff's claims as to the 2005 and 3 2007 PS denials were dismissed and the facts regarding those matters are relevant only 4 insofar as they relate to the 2008 decision and Plaintiff claims that his continued placement
5 in alternative housing rather than PS was deliberately indifferent to his safety needs.

6 Plaintiff complains that, in 2008, Rollins ignored STG affiliations of those on 7 Plaintiff's DNHW list. But Rollins was never served and will be dismissed on those grounds.
8 A review of the paperwork related to the PS 2008 request demonstrates that Schriro, Franco, 9 Miller, Crouch, and O'Bryant had nothing to do with that particular PS process. Plaintiff
10 offers no evidence of any conduct by these Defendants in connection with the 2008 PS 11 request.

12 DW Watson, Warden Sternes,³ and Haley were involved in the process and all 13 recommended alternative placement. The PS Decision Worksheet signed by Watson shows 14 that he considered the Cheyenne assault as well as the previous assault, that he determined 15 that alternative placements were available, and that inmates deemed a threat would be added 16 to Plaintiff's DNHW list. (Doc. #50, Ex. B, Attach. 13.) Likewise, Sternes' review shows 17 that he also recommended alternative placement. (Id., Attach. 14.) He also stated that the 18 inconsistencies in Plaintiff's stories might be small details, but they made Sternes question 19 the validity of Plaintiff's claims. Sternes noted that Plaintiff was a documented aggressor 20 and drug dealer who had a continued issue with selling or owing money for drugs, which 21 Sternes believed to be the more likely reason for the current issue. Likewise, Haley's review 22 shows that the DW and Warden both agreed to alternative placement, the assailant had no
23 documented STG affiliation, and Plaintiff would be placed away from inmates on his DNHW 24 list. (Id., Attach. 15.) The review noted discrepancies in Plaintiff's allegations—presumably 25 about the amounts of money owed and to whom.

26 Plaintiff appears to argue that because the complete PS review was done in all three 27

28 ³Like Rollins, Sternes was not served and will be dismissed on those grounds.

1 of his cases, his claims were “believed and warranted” and he was entitled to be placed in PS
2 for his safety. The Court disagrees. The fact that three reviews were conducted shows that 3 prison officials thought Plaintiff’s claims were serious enough to warrant investigation.
4 Plaintiff does not dispute that investigations were in fact completed. Each time, prison 5 officials assigned Plaintiff to a new yard and added names to his DNHW list; they did not 6 ignore Plaintiff’s concerns.

7 The Court finds that the evidence cited by Plaintiff’s regarding an STG threat
8 establishes only a self-reported STG threat. For example, the Criminal Investigative Report 9 regarding the 2007 request states in a box designated “Allegations” the following: “03-STG-10 related.” (Doc. #43, Attach. 1.) There are apparently inmate names, but they have been 11 blacked out and there is a designation after the name stating Position: INMATE (active).
12 Likewise, the DeFranco statement that those threatening Plaintiff are “all affiliated with 13 Aryan Brotherhood” is made on a “Confidential – Protective Segregation Interview 14 Assessment.” (Id., Attach. 5.) In other words, it appears to be DeFranco’s report of what 15 Plaintiff told DeFranco. Even assuming that Plaintiff stole money in 1991 from a member 16 of the Aryan Brotherhood, there is nothing to suggest that DeFranco conducted an 17 independent investigation and determined that in 2007 Plaintiff was, in fact, being threatened 18 by other inmates with AB affiliation.

19 Plaintiff claims the debt was incurred in 1991, but his problems did not arise until 20 2005. In addition, there is evidence, which Plaintiff did not dispute, that Defendants 21 considered that Plaintiff had been dealing drugs since he was in prison. Thus, even without 22 the inconsistencies in Plaintiff’s story, it was not unreasonable for prison officials to 23 conclude that Plaintiff’s problems did not arise from the 1991 drug debts. More importantly, 24 there is no evidence to suggest that Defendants actually perceived that Plaintiff was the target 25 of an STG threat and ignored the danger to him. Haley specifically indicated that the 26 assailant had no known STG affiliation. Plaintiff does not dispute this. In other words, there 27 is no evidence that any Defendant was aware of facts from which the inference could be 28 drawn that a substantial risk of serious harm existed by not placing Plaintiff in PS, or that any

1 Defendant drew the inference. See Farmer, 511 U.S. at 837. Plaintiff's disagreement with 2 the decision is not enough to demonstrate deliberate indifference. Plaintiff does not dispute 3 that he was transferred, nor does he claim that Defendants failed to add requested names to 4 his DNHW list. The Court concludes that Plaintiff has presented no probative evidence of 5 Defendants' deliberate indifference as to the 2008 PS request.

6 Plaintiff claims that he has received subsequent threats while in Florence Central Unit.
7 Even if these threats are part of the claims in the Complaint, there is no evidence that 8 Plaintiff has reported them to prison officials, and specifically to Defendants. It is 9 undisputed that Plaintiff has not been assaulted.

10 As to his claim that repeated requests for PS review alerts inmates in GP of his status 11 and increases the risk to him, Plaintiff presents almost no evidence. He claims that inmates 12 know he is in CDU during the PS investigation process, but he states that inmates other than 13 PS inmates are housed in CDU, so it is unclear why other inmates would know of PS reviews 14 simply because of assignment to CDU. And Plaintiff's claim that PS review followed by 15 alternative placement puts in him greater danger is somewhat inconsistent with Defendants' 16 undisputed evidence that Plaintiff did not ask for PS after the 2005 review or appeal the 17 alternate placement as to the 2007 request.

18 Moreover, there is no evidence that alternative placements and DNHW lists are so 19 deficient that the PS process is itself deliberately indifferent or that Defendants are aware of 20 this threat as to Plaintiff in particular or all inmates. See Redman v. County of San Diego, 21 942 F.2d 1435, 1446 (9th Cir. 1991) (a policy may be so deficient that the policy "itself is 22 a repudiation of constitutional rights" and is "the moving force of the constitutional 23 violation.>"). "Prisons, by definition, are places of involuntary confinement of persons who 24 have a demonstrated proclivity for antisocial, criminal, and often violent, conduct." Hudson 25 v. Palmer, 468 U.S. 517, 526 (1984). Under Plaintiff's theory, anyone who had ever been 26 in the PS process would have to be kept there for the duration of his sentence. "In deciding 27 how to protect a prisoner, officials may face a number of choices, each posing potential 28 dangers to the prisoner and others. Choosing the optimal 'prophylactic or preventive

1 measures' to prevent violence and maintain safety is difficult and not readily susceptible to 2 judicial evaluation." Berg v. Kincheloe, 794 F.2d 457, 461 (9th Cir. 1986), citing Whitley 3 v. Albers, 475 U.S. 312, 322 (1986).

4 The Court finds that Defendants were not deliberately indifferent to Plaintiff's safety.
5 It need not consider Defendants' remaining arguments.
